

Overseas internship in ecologically oriented agriculture in Bolivia

The Association for AgriCulture & Ecology (Agrecol e.V.) in Germany offers internship placements and travel grants for students enrolled in universities and colleges in German-speaking countries. In the coming year (2026), the Association can arrange one internship placement in ecologically oriented agriculture with our partner organisation Fundación Agrecol Andes, in Cochabamba, Bolivia.

The internship offers students an opportunity to acquire practical knowledge in sustainable agriculture and land management in a developing country. By living and working in another sociocultural environment, students can also gain valuable intercultural experiences.

The Agrecol Association in Germany covers the travel costs for a round-trip flight between Europe and Bolivia.

Further information about the internship programme and the requirements can be found in the announcement on the Association's website: <https://agrecol.de/praktikantenprogramm/>.

The application, consisting of a convincing letter of motivation in German and Spanish, concrete details about the desired period of internship and a curriculum vitae in German and Spanish, should be sent by email as one pdf file to praktikantinnenprogramm@agrecol.de and claudia.heid@agrecol.de (Claudia Heid).

Further questions regarding the internship can be directed to praktikantinnenprogramm@agrecol.de or claudia.heid@agrecol.de.

The deadline for applications is 8th of February 2026.